c. Coordinate replies to all queries from Congressional committees concerning the Community's foreign language competence.

d. Represent the Intelligence Community's interests in programs sponsored by other U.S. Government agencies and departments outside the Intelligence Community to improve foreign language studies in the nation's schools and universities.

e. Ensure that approaches to the academic community for the training of Intelligence Community personnel in foreign languages are appropriately coordinated and, to the maximum degree possible, serve Community as well as individual Agency interests.
